Audubon Community Nature Center

The caring begins with you.

The Animal Ambassadors

When you become an Animal Advocate at Audubon Community Nature Center, you are directly supporting animal care.

Not only are you assisting to purchase food and other needed supplies for the live animals housed at the Nature Center, but you are also helping Audubon accomplish their mission.

These animals are ambassadors that represent Audubon in a unique way. They take part in educational programs that strengthen the connection between people and nature.

Having a live animal as part of a learning toolkit makes the experience more impactful, hopefully leading to positive relationships with nature.

The live animals at ACNC are exhibited for educational purposes under permits from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation.

Animal Advocate Package

Animal Advocate packages make great souvenirs or gifts for any occasion. Packages are available for a $25 donation.

Packages include the following items, personalized with details about the animals of your choosing:

- Animal Advocate certificate
- The animal's biography
- Fact sheet about the animal's species
- 4-by-6 inch photo of the supported animal
- A current issue of the ACNC newsletter
